Water Tower Place opens its doors to popular anti-aging, hormone therapy and weight loss center

(Chicago, IL)—It's 2011 and we feel younger already. On February 15, 2011, Midwest Anti-Aging Center will unveil a new location at Water Tower Place after the popularity of its first location in Chicago's South Suburbs. To celebrate the launch, CS Modern Luxury and The AZK Group will host an event complete with gift bags, h'ordeurves, facial peel stations, microdermabrasion sessions and a foot detox booth—free of charge for attendees. Additionally, guests will receive 20% off their first consultation and can purchase discounted nutritional supplements.

It gets even better-- unlike other centers, all programs at Midwest Anti-Aging are medically supervised by physicians who are board-certified in age management medicine.

"Our patient is our priority, so we set high standards by providing strict supervision by medical doctors for each and every facial, body and hormone procedure," said Dr. Khaja Asadullah, founding partner and co-owner of Midwest Anti-Aging.

"We believe anti-aging is advanced preventative health care, and we treat it as such. This philosophy is behind the success of our suburban location, and we feel it will appeal to our new Chicago clientele as well," said Dr. Ayesha Akbar, founding partner and co-owner.

The physicians will debut their latest anti-aging products and procedures and will be available for interviews at the event.

Midwest Anti-Aging offers a plethora of body and facial procedures including botox, restylane/perlane, radiesse, juvéderm, microdermabrasion, bodysculpting, cellulite treatment and liposuction. Hormone therapy includes bio-identical hormone replacement therapy, human growth hormone, testosterone replacement and hormone testing services. Custom-catered weight loss programs focus on nonsurgical intervention, utilizing FDA-approved medicine as well as homeopathic Human Chorionic Gonadotropin (HCG) therapy administered through drops and patches. Detoxification programs are also custom-designed to fit individual needs and cleanse the liver, kidney & gastrointestinal system of harmful toxins.
